Eastvale Ranked #7 Best Place In Nation

STAFF REPORTS

Eastvale - The City of Eastvale was recently ranked the seventh best place to live in the nation and was the only California state to be listed in Fortune's 2023 ranking of the "50 Best Places to Live for Families." Fortune evaluated nearly 1,900 "cities, towns, suburbs, exurbs, villages, and townships that had between 25,000 and 750,000 residents across all 50 states in the U.S." stated the City. In Fortune's article, they discussed how the pandemic increased loneliness in the country and increased mental health strain. Therefore, they concluded that families are looking for a place to live that can offer support systems and community. "In our analysis of nearly 1,900 cities across the country, the best places to live scored high on assets like health care, education, and resources for seniors—all of which can help fight isolation and build social

ZIP Code Resolution Sent To Governor

STAFF REPORTS

Eastvale - City and government officials have actively been trying to get the City of Eastvale its own ZIP code and have recently made big strides towards that goal. On June 13, "Senator Richard Roth's Senate Joint Resolution (SJR) 3, which urges Congress and the President to give the City of Eastvale its own ZIP code, passed both houses of the State Legislature and made its way to the Governor's desk," stated the City. Assemblymembers Sabrina Cervantes and Bill Essayli also showed their support by co-sponsoring the bill. "We hope this sends a strong, unified message to Congress and the White House for swift action to address this important community issue!" stated the City. The City of Eastvale currently shares two ZIP codes: 91752 and 92880. "ZIP code 91752 represents the former Mira Loma unincorporated community that is shared between the Cities of Eastvale and Jurupa Valley; however, Mira Loma no longer exists as an unincorporated area after both cities incorporated," stated a City news release. "ZIP Code 92880 is currently shared between the Cities of Chino, Eastvale, Ontario, and Norco." The City of Eastvale conducted a comprehensive outreach campaign over the last several months, successfully gathering over 1,100 letters of support from business owners, stakeholders, and community members. A resolution was also collected from its "respective County Board of Supervisors that expresses support for Eastvale in having an independent ZIP code," stated the City news release. "As of June 13, Senator Richard Roth's resolution advanced to Governor Gavin Newsom's desk." Senator Richard Roth shared that "multiple shared ZIP codes have burdened Eastvale residents with mail delivery disruptions, miscalculated insurance rates, business recruitment challenges and it may potentially lead to emergency service delays in the event of a disaster."

Eastvale - The COVID-19 pandemic has changed how we live in many ways. One of the most significant changes is that more people work from home. This means that our homes are now used for work, school, and entertainment, which makes them more vulnerable to cyberattacks. Hackers are always looking for new ways to exploit vulnerabilities. Their thinking is, it's much easier to hack a

Tint Your Windows At Mr. Tint

STAFF REPORTS

Norco - Car window tinting is one of the best ways to improve the look and comfort of your vehicle. You can protect the interior of the vehicle from sun damage by tinting the windows. Sunlight and heat can cause your interior, like seats and the dashboard, to fade, crack and deteriorate. Window tinting reduces the sunlight allowed into the vehicle, which in turn reduces how hot it gets inside your car. Likewise, homes and offices heat up during the day, and trying to keep your air-conditioner ahead

Happy Father's Day?

MICHAEL ARMIJO

Each year it comes and goes, all too fast, all too quickly. Just like my father's life, Father's Day sneaks up on me and then leaves unexpectedly. All is gone, and all is forgotten.

My father and I had a very rough relationship when I was growing up; I don't recall telling him I loved him until I was in my late 20's. We missed so much with each other; we missed a time that every child needs in order to survive, every child deserves when they walk this Earth, every child wants to reflect back upon and has a right to for a strong and independent life. Life with a father.

I missed so much with my dad, but the last five years of his life we became best friends. I miss him so much. What hurts me deep inside though was that those five fast years did me a world of good, but it has been a struggle to hold on to them. Over 25 years of a poor relationship life is hard to erase with just five years of a bond. The baseball games, the football games. The guidance, the knowledge. I tried so hard to be a good kid, I just didn't know how. I needed a father to show me a strong example that I could see and respect each day, but I just didn't have that.

I believe the importance in being a father each day, and not waiting, or procrastinating. Spend time TODAY. I believe in the importance of listening to your kids, knowing their favorite color, their favorite food, their favorite TV shows. The color of their eyes, the texture of their hair. The texture of their skin, the size of their palms. And to know these things by association, not because you've asked them. I've sat and listened to my kids and looked deep into their eyes. I can close my eyes and describe every inch of both my daughter and my son's face. The trends in my life were set differently, and I've managed to change them so I wouldn't have the regrets many fathers do. It wasn't easy to learn how to love, but I really do love my children, something I had to learn, something I don't remember having while growing up. Something that was very hard to feel comfortable with.

When you make that effort in being a good father, you'll understand why when your kids turn out to be these wonderful, caring individuals that overcome the harshness of society. When they tread new paths and enlighten your life. When they become successful young adults in an honest, professional industry. When they make the right decisions based on character and integrity because they saw their mother and father do the same. At that time, you'll understand the hard work paid off.

Happy Father's Day. Each year it comes far too fast, far too quickly. Just like life. But Father's Day isn't just about honoring your father on a special day or receiving gifts from your children; it's about father's earning the privilege to have a day to be honored, earning the privilege in BEING a father. When your kids call your name, just the joy of hearing the word "Dad," is a gift of love and respect we receive from our kids. And then you'll feel that every day is truly Father's Day.

home user with a basic router than it is a large enterprise with multiple security layers, and they are correct. Which is wise to have multiple security layers, NOT just an anti-virus.

In 2020, the Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) found that the number of cyberattacks targeting residential users increased by 60%. This is likely because more people are adding devices to their network, and not adding additional network security, for example, DNS Filtering.

Anti-virus software used to be the only protection you needed from cyberattacks. However, anti-virus software is often the first and last line of defense today. If it fails, is not kept updated, or has expired, your devices and network are exposed.

That's why it's essential to take steps to protect your home from cyberattacks. Here are a few tips:

- Use strong passwords and change them regularly.
- Keep your anti-virus software up to date.
- Be careful about what links you click on and what files you download.
- Use a firewall to protect your network from unauthoitized access.

By taking these steps, you can help protect your home from cyberattacks.

If you're concerned about the security of your home network, you can also consider hiring a professional to help you. At Eastvale Computer Services, we can help you identify and fix any security vulnerabilities in your network.

In addition to the tips above, we offer various services to help you stay safe online.

These services include:

- Managed Services: Managed Services lets us handle your system's maintenance, backup, and anti-virus management. All done silently in the background, keeping your machine clean and error-free. Quick Remote Support is included in case issues arise.
- DNS Filtering - Filtering out the bad stuff before it hits your network. Enterprises all have DNS Filtering to keep bad things off their network.

We are bringing this managed service to our users for as low as $20 per month for the ENTIRE household or business.

Filtering bad sites and ads before they load on your network is a highly effective way to extend your security to your family and guests who connect to your Wi-Fi. Parental controls, scheduling, and Ad-blocking features are also included.

We still perform other computer services such as cleanups, repairs, and maintenance. However, as the technical challenge and security concerns are mounting, we want to stay ahead of our client's needs.

If you want to learn more about our services, please contact us today at 951-733-6916. We'll be happy to answer any questions you have and help you choose the best service for your needs. You can also visit our website at www.eastvalecomputer.com.

ter," stated the City's news release.

"Receiving a new and independent ZIP code would rectify issues that have plagued our community for over 13 years" stated Eastvale's Mayor, Todd Rigby. "Having multiple ZIP codes that do not match our municipal boundaries has a real-world impact on our residents and businesses in our community—including challenges with emergency management, public safety, business attraction, mail delivery, and insurance policies. The Eastvale City Council appreciates the leadership of Senator Roth and Assemblymembers Cervantes and Essayli. We would also like to express our gratitude to the Legislature for their overwhelming support of SJR 3. We hope this sends a strong, unified message to Congress and the White House for swift action to address this important community issue."

More Warehouses?

Reverend Wayne Chu

There is a big piece of land in my neighborhood. Developers are planning to build warehouses. I am wondering... During the economic boom in the last ten years, there was a big need for warehouses, so developers were looking for every piece of land to develop. But the process of applying for permits, planning, and preparation all take time. And then the pandemic came and now we are experiencing the economic downturn. The economy has a cycle and it will take time for the demand to pick up again. With all the vacant warehouses around, will the developer still want to continue with the plan?

That reminds me of the parable Jesus taught in Luke 12. The land of the rich man produced plentifully. He enjoys prosperity and feels that he has not enough space to keep his possessions. Therefore, he plans to tear down his old barn and build a larger one. He can keep all his possessions and can enjoy life for many years. But the LORD says, "What a fool! You don't know you will be taken away tonight!" It is like our situation: when the developers continue to keep building, they do not expect the economic downturn would come so soon. And it becomes more severe than expected, so the warehouses built sit vacant.

Jesus continues to teach us not to worry about the earthly possessions. As many of us would admit that we can donate and clean up all the items which have not been used in our garage. It is true that the temptation of hoarding and the desire to possess more material things will not give us security and satisfaction. Jesus says, "for one's life does not consist in the abundance of his possessions" Luke 12:15. And more than that. Jesus teaches us to seek the kingdom. Store up righteousness, peace, and joy, that is the real treasure both for this life and the next to come.

Stand Out Strength

Pastor Dennis Morales

"Watch, stand fast in the faith, be brave, be strong..." 1 Corinthians 16:13

This is the final encouragement to a church from the Apostle Paul. Paul planted the Corinthian church, but the church had issues that needed addressing. The final comments to them is a calling to "stand fast." This is actually a military term meaning to "hold your position" or "to refuse to be defeated." There is to be no retreat. Paul is encouraging the Corinthian church to remain strong in the faith because opposition will come. Trials will ensue. Are you going through a time of drought? Are you going through a time of discouragement? Paul says, "Stand firm and be brave." I believe we need to share this encouragement all the more today. I am reminded how "Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's delicacies, nor with the wine which he drank; therefore, he requested of the chief of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself." This Scripture says

God had brought Daniel into the favor and goodwill of the chief of the eunuchs (Daniel 1:8-9). Under Babylonian rule, Daniel turned his back on the luxuries of the king's court because eating defiled food would have been a compromise of his faith. God honored Daniel's stand and he earned the respect of the chief of the eunuchs, because Daniel's courage impressed him. Daniel stood for God and was strong. He didn't seek man's approval, but God's will. He knew God stood with him. If we allow ourselves to be dissuaded from doing anything unless we have complete approval, it almost assured we will never accomplish anything of value. Instead of being discouraged by opposition, we should take comfort in (God's faithfulness) and keep on doing what is right. "If God is for "you" who can stand against you (Romans 8:31). He sees what you don't see. Faith is trusting and believing God. God does the impossible (Matthew 19:26).

Unhappy

Melody Kraemer

As we go through life, it's filled with ups and downs. We have good and bad days, but that's what life is.

Some days you may feel like you are at the top of the roller coaster, while other days you may feel like you're at the bottom.

Life is a mixture of everything.

The other day someone said to me, "I am so unhappy. I guess that's what God wants, me to be unhappy forever!"

It hurt my heart to hear someone say that because that's not what life is all about. I replied that's not true. God gives us free will and the choice to go down whatever road we choose. It's not about God giving us happiness or making us unhappy. It's about creating our happiness. Sometimes, it's hard to see the light at the end of the tunnel when overwhelmed daily. Those are the days we need to reply and trust God fully. We need to turn everything over to God and say Jesus take the wheel; that means letting go of the wheel and not being a back-seat driver.

We must put our faith in God and know he has a plan for us. We may not understand His plan or the process, but there's a plan.

God doesn't want us to be unhappy or think life is pointless.

Trusting God and listening to him, things change. It may be as simple as focusing on yourself and not giving so much to others. You can't pour from an empty vessel. Taking time for yourself and inviting God in may be the remedy that is needed.

Matthew 22:37 NIV

37 Jesus replied: "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind."

Going for a Walk

Mark Hopper

I have shared in the past how much I enjoyed walking through my neighborhood. I usually got up early in the morning and walked by myself. I enjoyed seeing a few other people in the early morning hours.

But more recently my walking routine has changed. Now I have been walking with my friend Susan instead of walking alone. I have been walking in the afternoon instead of the early morning. And instead of only walking in my neighborhood I have expanded my horizons to include a local park.

I have found myself more motivated with a walking partner. It was hard to get going on my own. But it has been more fun walking with a friend. We talk about the day and we review plans for tomorrow. We discuss a variety of topics in the local news. And we pray for our adult children and our grandchildren.

There is a passage in the Bible that says, "Two are better than one because they have a good return for their work. If one falls down his friend can help him up. But pity the man who falls and has no one to help him up" (Ecclesiastes 4:9-10).

The author goes on to say, "If two lie down together they will keep warm. But how can one keep warm alone? Though one may be overpowered, two can defend themselves. A cord of three strands is not quickly broken" (Ecclesiastes 4:11-12). Having a walking partner has helped me be more motivated to walk in my neighborhood and even drive to a local park to walk together. It is more fun walking and talking with a friend.

We all need friends to share the journey with us. Let me encourage you to invite a friend to do something with you. It may be walking or bowling. It may be painting or exercising. There is strength in numbers and greater enjoyment doing something with your spouse or friend. Make a call or send an email and invite someone to do something with you this week. They will be glad you did and you will too.

ties," stated Fortune.

"For the first time, this year's list highlights the best place to live in each of the 50 states," Fortune continued.

"We factored in data like affordability, walkability, and a city's well-being index, which can correlate strongly with community connectedness. Fortune's analysis resulted in a ranking of cities where people can weave themselves into the fabric of the community by accessing a myriad of resources in the town and surrounding areas. Beyond being a factor in longevity, feeling socially connected builds resilience, reduces stress, and can give people purpose as they age."

"We are beyond excited for this ranking," said Eastvale Mayor Todd Rigby. "It speaks to our community's commitment to growth and innovation, and we are proud that Fortune recognizes our efforts."

The City of Eastvale has a population of 69,324 and a median household income of $132,622. It also has the median home sale price of $861,764.
